

1.2. A Memorable Story Linking 12 Unrelated Words:

Unrelated Words:

Clock, elephant, river, mango, bicycle, rainbow, mirror, doctor, ladder, guitar, mountain, butterfly

Story:

One morning, at exactly seven o'clock, a little boy named Ramu saw a huge elephant drinking water from a river near his house. Curious, he grabbed a mango from a nearby tree and rode his bicycle to get a closer look.

As he reached the riverbank, a beautiful rainbow appeared in the sky. Ramu looked into a mirror he carried in his bag (to see if he looked brave enough to meet the elephant!) and smiled.

Suddenly, a kind doctor passing by on a boat asked if Ramu needed help. Together, they climbed a ladder hung from a tree to get a better view of the rainbow. At the top, a man was playing a guitar, filling the air with sweet music.

From there, they could see the distant mountain peaks, where hundreds of colorful butterflies danced in the sunlight. It was the most magical morning Ramu ever had.

How This Helps:

- Linking unrelated words through a story forms mental associations.
 - The vivid, unusual images make it easier to recall the words in order.
 - This method improves memory, storytelling, and vocabulary usage.
