

Analyzing a Product

Product analysis involves examining product features, costs, availability, quality, appearance and other aspects. Product analysis is conducted by potential buyers, by product managers attempting to understand competitors and by third party reviewers. It involves all facts of the product, its purpose, its operation, and its characteristics.